INTERNATIONAL SHIPPING GUIDE

Estimated shipping rates for international document shipments

Currency: USD

Valid as of: MM/YY

Shipment type: Documents only

Reference weight: Up to [insert weight]

Dispatch location: United States

Important Pricing Information

Rates shown in this guide are indicative retail estimates for document shipments. Final pricing may vary depending on:

- Destination country and postal code,
- Shipment weight and dimensions,
- Fuel and remote-area surcharges,
- Customs or documentation requirements,
- Current carrier availability,
- Temporary service restrictions.

A confirmed quotation will be provided before shipment.

Non-document shipments, parcels exceeding the stated reference weight, and special-handling requests will be quoted separately.

Customs duties, import taxes and governmental charges are not included unless expressly stated in the confirmed quotation.

Carrier Information

Estimated retail rate ranges in USD for document shipments. These ranges are provided for planning purposes only — the final price is calculated once your shipment is processed and is communicated to you afterward.

USPS Priority

USPS Priority generally provides the most economical option for international document shipments. Delivery in the destination country is normally completed by the local postal service. Transit times, tracking quality and delivery reliability may therefore vary by country.

USPS Express

Private courier services may provide faster processing and improved international tracking compared with USPS Priority. Final delivery may nevertheless depend on the postal or delivery infrastructure in the destination country.

UPS, FedEx and DHL

Private courier services may provide faster estimated transit times, more detailed tracking, direct courier delivery, and stronger support for time-sensitive shipments. Rates may be higher and can vary significantly based on the destination postal code, remote-area classification and current carrier surcharges.

Destination-Specific Conditions and General Terms

ZONE 5–7

Rates for South America, Africa, the Middle East and Asia may vary significantly due to distance, customs procedures, local infrastructure, remote-area surcharges, carrier network coverage and destination-specific documentation requirements.

ZONE 8

Shipping may be restricted, temporarily suspended or unavailable. A listed price range does not confirm that a shipment can be accepted; availability is verified as part of processing.

- All prices shown are estimates and are not binding quotations.
- Final rates are calculated once the shipment is processed and are communicated to the customer afterward.
- Rates apply to document shipments within the stated reference weight and dimensions.
- Additional charges may apply for remote destinations, address corrections, special handling or return shipments.
- Delivery dates are estimates and are not guaranteed unless expressly confirmed by the selected carrier.
- The customer is responsible for providing complete and accurate recipient information.
